Background:

Nursing homes, adult family homes, and boarding homes are currently required to have emergency response plans in place to deal with natural and man-made emergency situations. Only nursing homes are required to have emergency generator backup. There is currently no requirement that long-term care facilities coordinate their emergency response plans with local political subdivision emergency planning authorities.

Summary of Engrossed Bill:

All long-term residential care facilities are required to have emergency response plans in place. The emergency response plans will provide for an alternative source of power. Long-term care emergency response plans must be coordinated with local political subdivision emergency planning authorities.

---

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on February 5, 2007.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) The Department of Social and Health Services (Department) is working on the Governor's Task Force on Emergency Services which will release its report on March 1, 2007. The Department supports many elements of the bill, but funding for it is not included in the Governor's budget. Local coordination is an important part of the bill and is currently a missing link in emergency planning.

(Neutral) Law enforcement is mapping all public facilities in the state. A Long-term care program would be a good addition.

(With concerns) There is no funding in the bill to pay for the additional responsibilities.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Schual-Berke, prime sponsor; Gary Weeks, Washington Health Care Association; and Louise Ryan, Washington Long-Term Care Association Ombudsman Program.

(Neutral) Joe Hawe, Washington Association of Sheriffs and Police Chiefs.

(With concerns) Joyce Stockwell, Department of Social and Health Services; Julie Peterson, Washington Association of Housing and Services for the Aging; and Terry Kohl, Washington State Residential Care Council.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
